PROFILE

Kathryn Dickson is a Toronto based, award-winning Canadian television and documentary editor, travel writer, content creator, adventure seeker, parent of a 5 year old boy and a 9 year old girl, wine lover, speaker and mentor.

Using her journalism and filmmaking skills, she has ventured into documenting her travels with her family near and far to inspire and teach other families about adventure with their children, about different cultures, traditions and ways of life. She travels solo and with her children around the world in search of the experiences that make them weak in the knees.

Kathryn holds a 2nd degree black belt in karate, is a certified open water diver and is 100% fuelled by coffee and adrenaline daily.

Any time she is home in Toronto, be assured that she is suffering from a severe case of wanderlust.
